Eight-Day Dock Strike Called Off

Cost East Coast Better Than Eight Millions In Losses

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—An eight-day New York waterfront strike that spread along the East and Gulf coasts ended today. It cost the shipping industry better than eight million dollars in losses.

The striking International Longshoremen's Assn. (Ind.) hailed the peace formula—which provides for a citizens' probe of its grievances—as a victory over its mortal foe, the New York-New Jersey Waterfront Commission. However, the victory claim was questionable. Industry called the formula "face-saving."

* The bistate pier-policing commission was the target of the strike, rather than the 170 New York shippers. The ILA is publicly pledged to wipe out the commission. But the strike failed to kill it.

Begin To Return

New York's 30,000 longshoremen began returning to the 350-mile waterfront in the afternoon. A full force of 100,000 dockers was expected back along the East and Gulf coasts by tomorrow.

They will bend their backs to an estimated 200 million dollars worth of cargo that piled up on idle piers during the longest waterfront strike since the spring of 1954.

The New York Shipping Assn., the employers' agency in the port, estimated that New York alone lost a million dollars a day in diverted business. Losses in other ports were not determined. About 10 per cent of any business diverted in a strike is figured by shippers as lost forever to its home port.

The strike's end also freed more than 150 idle ships, nearly all of them freighters. Most passenger liners came and went during the strike without too much inconvenience.

The strike-ending formula came from a 36-year-old Democratic state senator from New Jersey, James F. Murray Jr., Part of his district is Jersey City, where piers were idled by the strike.

His plan calls for a five-man committee of private citizens to hold public hearings into the ILA's grievances against the Waterfront Commission. The committee then will seek any changes it feels are required in the commission setup from the legislatures of the two states.

May Boycott Hearings

There were indications that the Waterfront Commission will boycott the hearings. At any rate, the committee's findings will be binding on no one.

"Regardless of what anybody says, this is a victory for the rank and file of the ILA and ILA leadership," declared ILA general organizer Thomas (Teddy) Gleason.

The union maintained the formula gives it what it wanted—a public forum to air its complaints of harsh and discriminatory tactics against the Waterfront Commission.

However, the peace terms fall far short of what the ILA had demanded throughout the strike. Union leaders had issued an ultimatum that the governors of New York and New Jersey bypass the Waterfront Commission and hear the grievances themselves.

Former Employee Shoots, Kills Newspaper Foreman

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (AP)—A former employee shot his ex-boss to death today in the mailing room of the Chicago Daily News, apparently in revenge for not being rehired.

Witnesses said Michael Morabito, 30, who quit his job in the paper's mailing room Aug. 22, fired four shots from a .38 caliber revolver into Henry George, 45, mailing room foreman.

As George fell dead, Morabito reloaded the revolver and ran from the building. Police organized a widespread search for him.

The slaying occurred while the Newspaper's presses in an adjoining room of the skyscraper at 400 W. Madison St. were printing an early afternoon edition. Many persons in the big backshop did not hear the shots above the presses' roar.

"I heard two shots fired and I saw Mike (Morabito) standing with a gun," said Richard Cedergerg, 28, an apprentice pressman.

"Henry was on the floor lying on his side. Mike then fired two more shots into his head, I think."

Daily News officials said Morabito was a "mental case" who had been the subject of talks between union heads and newspaper executives since he was hired in 1946. At the suggestion of an official of the AFL Mailers Union, Morabito quit the Daily News Aug. 22 and worked briefly in Los Angeles.

But then he came back and asked for his old job. The News refused. Although George was his former superior, the paper said he did not make the decision not to rehire Morabito.

Detective Malcolm Schreiber said Morabito for some reason believed George was responsible and apparently shot him "in revenge."

George, an employee of the newspaper for 20 years, was married and the father of two grown children.

Longshoremen End Strike

Longshoremen rise in a standing vote of approval as their chief, International Longshoremen's Union president William V. Bradley, tells them to end their eight-day walkout. The dock-workers massed in a local hall and voted to go along with a plan for a citizens committee to hear their grievances against the New York-New Jersey waterfront commission. (AP Wirephoto).

Benson States Farm Income Plan Pending

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today the government definitely plans to do something about sliding farm income.

But he emphasized the Eisenhower administration does not intend to backtrack from its system of flexible price supports.

Benson, returning from a two-week trip to Europe, told reporters Congress will receive some "very specific" proposals to reverse the downward path of farm earnings. He indicated no decision had yet been reached on precise measures but said a number are under study.

"Something needs to be done to ease the farm price squeeze," Benson said. "Anyone who is sincerely interested in agriculture cannot be satisfied with present conditions. Certainly I am not."

Whatever methods are suggested, the secretary added, will supplement the administration's existing program. They will not, he said, cause a "change in direction."

Some Democrats and Republicans alike have suggested the economic well-being—or otherwise—of farmers may constitute a major issue in next year's presidential election campaign. The Agriculture Department said yesterday net farm income had dropped 4.3 per cent in the first half of 1955 and seemed likely to decline further.

Democrats have attributed this slump to Eisenhower-Benson policies. Republicans insist the system of flexible supports adopted last year in place of fixed, high prices hasn't had a chance to work yet. It becomes effective this year.

Benson said the whole problem will be studied by 18 farm leaders comprising his department's Agricultural Advisory Commission at a meeting here Sept. 22-23.

State Department Hails German-Soviet Pact As Victory Over Russians

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—The State Department broke its official silence on the German-Soviet agreements today with a statement hailing them as a Western victory over "bankrupt" Russian policy toward Germany.

Its strongly worded comment came after close study of the accords announced yesterday at Moscow.

Henry Suydam, a State Department spokesman, said the significance of the agreements had to be weighed in the light of West Germany's brief history.

Pointing out that the United States, Great Britain and France established the new German republic in 1947 and brought it into the Western Alliance despite Soviet opposition "every step of the way," Suydam stated:

"The abandonment now by the Soviet Union of its bankrupt German policy is a tribute to the success of the constructive policy which the Western governments and the German Federal Republic have consistently pursued."

Suydam said West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer had been invited to Moscow "over the head of Moscow's satellite government in East Germany." He commented that the Germans will be the first to appreciate "the enhanced stature of the (West) German Federal Republic."

Suydam recalled that Adenauer and Soviet leaders agreed to establish "normal diplomatic relations" between their two countries. He noted the Russians undertook to repatriate thousands of German soldiers held in Russia after World War II.

Suydam dismissed lack of progress toward reunification of East and West Germany with these words: "It was clear that such a major achievement realistically could not have been hoped for during this brief international contact."

The foreign ministers of Britain, France, the United States and Russia will take up the key question of German reunification at Geneva in October as a follow-up to last July's summit conference there, Suydam said.

"The agreement reflects the increased stature of the German Federal Republic as an independent power closely associated with the other Western nations," he emphasized.

As for Russia's agreement to return detained Germans, Suydam observed, "any progress made towards a solution of this extremely difficult problem would be gratifying."

He called the Soviet claim that thousands of Russians are held in West Germany "an extraordinary allegation."

Patron Objects To $28 Price For His Scotch

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 14 (AP)—A New Yorker objected to paying $28 for a bottle of scotch and was arrested early today at Ciro's nightclub.

Richard Shubert, 35, New York fishing tackle manufacturer, said he didn't mind the other items on his bill for a party of three but he just couldn't swallow that $28 for a fifth of scotch. He said he preferred jail to paying such a price.

Owner Herman Hoyer called in sheriff's deputies and told Shubert he was placing him under arrest on a complaint of defrauding an innkeeper.

Later Municipal Judge Charles J. Griffin released Shubert on $100 bond. The New Yorker pleaded innocent and his trial was set for Oct. 7.

Boulmetis Suspended For Careless Riding

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 14 (AP)—Jockey Sam Boulmetis, leading rider of the meeting and third in the national standings, received a 10 day suspension from the stewards today.

The ruling is effective September 16 through the 25th. The stewards said that Boulmetis was warned for careless riding leaving the gate on September 8, and when the same infraction occurred on September 13 aboard Broomfield Farm's I Appeal, he was set down.

The suspension prevents Boulmetis from riding Brookmeade Stable's County Clare in the American Bred Stakes here on Saturday. The jockey had won 43 races here before today's card.

17 Drown As Trawler Sinks

AVEIRO, Portugal, Sept. 14 (AP)—Seventeen men went down with the Portuguese trawler Graca de Deus today when she foundered in heavy seas at the entrance of Aveiro harbor.

Eyewitnesses reported all aboard were lost.

The death toll earlier had been estimated at 25, but it was established that some of the crew had stayed ashore.

Port authorities said Antonio Paula Jr., skipper of the Graca de Deus and co-owner of several other trawlers, sailed out to sea at dawn despite storm warnings.

Five of Paula's trawlers went out in line astern, the Graca de Deus leading the way with Paula at the wheel. As the Graca de Deus reached the harbor bar, heavy seas crashed in. The 51-year-old skipper signaled to the following ships to return to the quayside and sent his own crew below.

Then, eyewitnesses said, Paula stood alone at the wheel, fighting the ship off the far end of the harbor wall until suddenly she capsized and sank.

Lifboats and flying boats from the Aveiro naval air base roared out to the storm-tossed spot where the trawler disappeared but there was no sign of survivors.

Arrives In Moscow

MOSCOW, Sept. 14 (AP)—A French parliamentary delegation arrived in Moscow today for an official visit to the Soviet Union. The delegation was invited by the Russian Supreme Soviet (Parliament) last February.

Bonn Greet Adenauer On Return Home

Chancellor Gets Hero's Welcome From Big Crowd

BONN, Germany Sept. 14 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer got a hero's welcome when he came home today from his momentous conference in Moscow with Soviet leaders. He confidently predicted thousands of German war prisoners soon will be released from Russian prisons.

"I do not doubt that Premier Bulganin will keep his word to release Germans still held in Russia," Adenauer told a wildly cheering crowd of thousands at the Bonn airport.

Smiling broadly, Adenauer said: "Premier Bulganin told me that even before I arrived back in Bonn action to return the German war prisoners would already be started."

100,000 Still Prisoners

"Bulganin, as well as Khrushchev, further declared that if other Germans are still held in the Soviet Union, we can submit a list of their names. They will then try to find them."

Nikita Khrushchev is the powerful Communist party boss in Russia. Adenauer claims that 100,000 or more German war prisoners are still held in Soviet labor camps. The Russians insisted during the Moscow talks that they have only 9,626 convicted war criminals serving sentences.

The largest crowd ever to assemble at this capital city's airport greeted the 79-year-old chancellor on his return from the conference where he agreed to establish diplomatic relations with Russia in return for the pledge to free German prisoners.

He waved gaily at the crowd, then stepped to a battery of microphones to say:

Adenauer Deeply Moved

"I am deeply moved. It was no easy conference. It will afford an opportunity for further talks over political and all other questions. The German delegation stood solidly in Moscow for our fatherland."

The other questions Adenauer referred to presumably include Germany's reunification, an issue which he did not expect to settle in Moscow, anyhow.

Cabinet members, foreign diplomats and members of Parliament crowded around the happy chancellor to congratulate him on winning a pledge from the Soviets to free the prisoners.

While the 50 million West Germans were stirred by the Soviet pledge on war prisoners, most opposition political leaders in Bonn cautiously avoided endorsing the agreement to establish diplomatic relations with the Kremlin.

Adenauer himself said nothing about this.

The opposition Socialist party commented: "The conclusion of the Moscow negotiations leaves open a group of difficult questions which require further information and a thorough testing."

Rodney Nears 4th Birthday

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (AP)—Rodney Dee Brodie, Siamese twin who had a close brush with death his third year of life, will celebrate his fourth birthday with a small party Friday.

The party will be at the University of Illinois Research and Educational Hospital, where Rodney was brought in May suffering from a deep brain hemorrhage.

Rodney's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brodie, will drive up from their Ferris, Ill., home for the party. There will be ice cream, cake, funny paper hats and other party trimmings.

Rodney, the first head-joined Siamese twin to survive a separation operation, now weighs 28 pounds and is 39 inches tall.

He was separated from his brother, Roger Lee, Dec. 17, 1952. Roger died a month later without regaining consciousness.

Seeks State Park Site At Penmar

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Sept. 14 (AP)—State Sen. Charles Downey (R-Wash.) said today he wants the State Planning Commission to earmark $40,000 for the initial purchase of land for a state park at Penmar.

He said he has a petition with 10,000 signatures calling for the establishment of a park at Penmar.

New Hurricane Threatens As Hilda Passes

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 14 (AP)—Cuba counted two dead and widespread damage from Hurricane Hilda today while a new tropical storm, Ione, threatened the northern Leeward Islands and Puerto Rico.

A man and his daughter were killed when Hilda's destructive winds smashed their home in northeast Oriente Province and other homes along the Cuban coast were destroyed or damaged as Hilda moved into the Caribbean south of the island republic.

Rains flooded parts of Cuba, causing heavy damage to coffee and other crops, but no official estimates were immediately available.

Ione sent hurricane warnings up in several north Leeward Islands and northeast storm warnings were ordered up on the Puerto Rican coast from Arrecibo to Humacao.

Ione at 5 p.m. was centered about 250 miles east of San Juan and only some 50 miles east of Anguilla. The eye of the storm was expected to hit the small island or pass just to the north tonight.

Hilda, still reeling from her bout with the Cuban mountains last night, was some 310 miles southeast of Havana and moving west at about 9 miles per hour. This path would carry it some 200 miles to the south of the Cuban capital city.

Forecasters in the Miami Weather Bureau said a high pressure area hovering at 20,000 feet over the Bahamas may keep Ione from threatening the U.S. Atlantic Coast, just as it forced Hilda down into the Caribbean.

Ione was discovered 320 miles east of San Juan, Puerto Rico, and 1,400 miles southeast of Miami. Although the storm's top winds are only 70 miles per hour, hurricane warnings were posted immediately in the northern Leeward and Virgin Islands.

The San Juan Weather Bureau was so sure that Ione would develop quickly into a full-blown hurricane, it referred to her as a hurricane in its advisory released at 3:17 p.m. EST.

Seek More Funds

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 14 (AP)—Directors of the Cambridge-Maryland Hospital hope to raise another $100,000 by public subscription within the next four months for a one-story wing to the hospital.

Godfrey Denies Careless Flying In Pilot Dispute

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—A complaint of careless flying, lodged against TV star Arthur Godfrey by two airline pilots, stirred anew today a bitter dispute between airline and private pilots over responsibility for near collisions.

Godfrey was accused by the pilot and copilot of an Ozark Airlines twin-engine DC3 airliner of flying too close to their plane shortly after takeoff from Chicago's Midway Airport last Wednesday.

Godfrey denied to a reporter late yesterday that he had broken any flying rule.

He acknowledged his faster, more powerful DC3 overtook the airliner that left the airport just ahead of him. But he said he kept the other plane in view all the time, remained above and to one side of it, then dipped his wings in salute and turned off to the right when it appeared that the airliner was making the same wide sweep to the left that he had planned.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration is investigating the Ozark complaint. Last year the agency suspended Godfrey's flying license for six months on the ground that

China Envoy Wants Higher Level Talks

Demand Turned Down Until Release Of Civilians Made Good

GENEVA, Sept. 14 (AP)—A Red Chinese envoy demanded today "higher level" talks with the United States. The United States rejected this as premature until Peiping makes good its promises to free American civilians.

The Communist request was made by Ambassador Wang Pingnan at today's session of a six-week-old conference with U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson. Wang also demanded that the West lift its embargo on shipping strategic goods to China. The higher level talks presumably would be between Secretary of State Dulles and Red China's Premier Chou En-lai.

Won't Discuss Proposals

Johnson refused even to discuss Wang's proposals or other political and economic questions until China carries out two promises it made last week to let 22 Americans leave China.

In Washington, the State Department backed Johnson. Henry Suydam, spokesman for the department, repeated in full a statement issued by Johnson in Geneva.

Suydam added it was "a fair implication" the statement ruled out not only a U.S.-Red Chinese foreign ministers' meeting but also any discussion of other matters until the return of the detained Americans is effected.

In his statement, Johnson said "it would be premature to discuss other matters before carrying out the agreed announcement of Saturday regarding return of civilians."

"Only the full implementation of the agreed announcement can resolve the problem of the return of American civilians. In that announcement, the (Communist) People's Republic of China said it will further adopt appropriate measures so that American civilians can 'expeditiously' exercise their right to return."

"The faithful carrying out of that commitment should be the continued task of the Geneva meetings and should provide a basis for proceeding to the discussion of other practical matters."

Announce Release Of Prisoners

On Sept. 6 the Communists announced 12 Americans against whom no formal charges had been made were free to leave China whenever they chose. Last Saturday the Reds announced 10 more Americans in prison or under house arrest would be released "within a few days." A joint U.S.-Chinese announcement said China was setting up machinery to allow 19 other Americans known to be imprisoned in China to "exercise their right" to leave.

Wang's delegation claimed today the two announcements on American prisoners wound up that phase of the negotiations and that the talks should proceed to the second point on the agenda. That point includes "other practical matters at issue between the two sides."

Arrest Wanted Man

CINCINNATI, Sept. 14 (AP)—Leonard Powell, 52, wanted in Baltimore on a charge of murder, was picked up by FBI agents today and held on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Godfrey Denies Careless Flying In Pilot Dispute

he buzzed the Teterboro, N.J., control tower.

The Aircraft Owners and Pilots Assn. here repeatedly has defended private fliers against implications that they are largely to blame for collisions and near-collisions between large and small craft.

The airline pilots, meanwhile, have made it plain they consider private fliers, in crowded air traffic zones, among their greatest hazards.

Commenting on the Chicago incident, Joseph B. Hartranft Jr., AOPA president, said that Godfrey always flies his DC3 in company with a professional pilot. Hartranft also ventured a guess in an interview, that Godfrey's plane is better equipped with modern safety devices than was the Ozark airliner.

Reluctant Sultan, Cabinet Ministers Delay Faure Plans

PARIS, Sept. 14 (AP)—A stubborn Sultan and a pair of reluctant Cabinet ministers today delayed Premier Edgar Faure's "Operation Throne" for settlement of the crisis in Morocco. But action seemed imminent.

The Premier this afternoon appeared to have convinced Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay and Defense Minister Gen. Perre Koenig that Morocco's Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafat must be replaced by a three-man regency. The Sultan, meanwhile, still sulks in his white-walled palace in Rabat, holding out for the best possible terms.

French Resident Gen. Pierre Boyer de Latour du Moulin has a letter from French President Rene Coty promising Moulay Arafat an honorable exit and a generous financial settlement for a peaceful departure. The resident general is expected to hand this document over to the Sultan tonight in accordance with the French Cabinet decision of Monday.

One indication that it would be done soon came in a cryptic announcement from Faure's office to the effect that the government's decisions, taken in the five-hour session Monday, still stand. An official said that the validity of these decisions had never been questioned. Pinay and Koenig reflected the views of prominent French colonists in Morocco who have been pressing for Moulay Arafat's retention.

Harmony within the French government on the issue apparently was restored in midafternoon when officials said that a new Cabinet session probably would not be necessary this week. Earlier, these same sources had predicted a ministerial meeting either late today or tomorrow to deal with the Moroccan problem.

The reaffirmation of government policy came after a meeting of the inner Cabinet group concerned with the North African issues. This group included Pinay and Koenig, whose attitude on some aspects of "Operation Throne" ranged from reluctance to opposition.

The four-man group which is to supervise the operation—Pierre July, minister for Tunisian and Moroccan affairs, Justice Minister Robert Schuman, the overseas territories minister, Pierre-Henri Teitgen, and Gaston Palewski, state minister attached to Faure's office—also held a meeting.

Under Faure's plan, a new and representative Moroccan government under Sidi Ben Slimane, independent nationalist, will take office as soon as the regency is set up. Slimane, who met with the inner Cabinet group this morning, will then negotiate a new French-Moroccan partnership. He is friendly to the exiled pronationalist former Sultan, Mohammed Ben Yusuf, and conferred with the ex-sovereign last week on Madagascar.

Teenagers Admit Theft Of Autos

SUITLEND, Md., Sept. 14 (AP)—Police said today two teenagers admitted the theft of eight automobiles last month for "joy rides."

The teenagers were captured by police after a high speed automobile chase in Prince Georges County.

Two other teenagers were implicated by the captured youths.

Fake Collector Got Wrong Home

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—A fake collector of money for flood relief who called on a Washington policeman was sentenced in Municipal Court today to serve a year for false pretenses.

Police said Clarence C. Johnson, Negro, knocked at the door of Policeman Bart Conroy yesterday. Conroy asked Johnson to show his identification. Johnson couldn't produce.

"Boy, you've had it," Conroy told Johnson. Johnson's record, police said, shows convictions for using other methods to get money—including larceny, housebreaking, robbery and carrying deadly weapons.

Famed Postwar Four In A Jeep Comes To An End

VIENNA, Austria, Sept. 14 (AP)—Vienna's famed postwar international patrol—the four soldiers in a jeep who made history and movies—came to a formal end today.

An American military policeman, a Russian, a Briton and a Frenchman shook hands in front of the now defunct headquarters of the Big Four Allied High Commission, tore out their telephones and symbolically handed over their authority to the Vienna police.

For 10 years, soldiers from each of the four occupying powers patrolled the capital, ready to intervene in incidents involving troops of the four nations. For seven years they did it in open jeeps flying the flags of the Big Four. Three years ago, they took to sedans, still flying the flags.

During the height of the cold war, Vienna was the only place in the world where the four war victors fraternized. They ate chow together in a U. S. Army mess. Their functions ended when Austria was granted its freedom recently.

Bechtold Guilty Of False Entry

BALTIMORE, Sept. 14 (AP)—William C. Bechtold, 65-year-old bookkeeper, was convicted by a Federal Court jury today of making an $8,500 false entry in the books of the citizens National Bank at Havre de Grace.

Moments later Walter E. Black, assistant U. S. attorney, announced to Judge W. Calvin Chesnut that William A. Leffler, cashier at the bank, wished to plead guilty to charges involving a $100,000 shortage.

Bechtold, Leffler and Aubrey N. Mitchell, another bookkeeper, were indicted after a check of bank records. Mitchell was indicted on charges similar to those brought against Leffler.

A jury of five women and seven men returned the guilty verdict against Bechtold two and one-half hours after it retired for deliberation.

Judge Chesnut ordered Bechtold's release on $3,000 bond pending sentence and directed probation officials to give him a report on Leffler "within the next few days." Leffler's trial had been set for Sept. 21. Mitchell's was placed on the court calendar for Sept. 27.

Bendix Workers Vote To Remain Out On Strike

TOWSON, Md., Sept. 14 (AP)—Striking Bendix Radio employees today turned down the company's "last and final" offer and voted to continue their strike which started Sept. 1.

Peter Stuart, international representative of the striking AFL, International Machinists Union, said the company proposal was rejected "by a decisive vote at a meeting attended by about 2,400 employees."

The actual vote was given as 835 for rejection and 775 for acceptance, with seven of the 1,618 votes voided. There was no explanation for the difference in the number attending the meeting and the number of ballots cast.

About 3,300 workers have been out since the strike began.

"In accordance with the vote of our membership," Stuart said, "the strike of the Bendix Radio Division will be continued in support of the Machinists' Union demands for a more adequate contract settlement."

The union leader said he would notify the company that the union is "ready, willing and able" to bargain to seek an effective settlement.

The offer voted on today by the strikers was proposed by the company late last night after a 13-hour negotiating session with the union and a federal mediator.

The company called it its "last and final" offer and said it would apply only if accepted within 48 hours, or by tomorrow.

The company made no change in its offer of an 8-cent hourly wage increase, but proposed more liberal insurance and pension plans. The union has been asking 21 cents more an hour.

Stuart said the union negotiating committee was unanimous in recommending that the company proposal be rejected.

Girl, 8, Awaits Heart Exam

BALTIMORE, Sept. 14 (AP)—Marcelene Mitchell, an 8-year-old wisp of a girl from Little Rock, Ark., began a two-day wait here today before entering Johns Hopkins Hospital for examination of a heart condition.

Clutching two big, stuffed dolls the pert little blonde arrived in Baltimore yesterday aboard an Arkansas National Guard plane with her parents. The father, Wyre Mitchell, is the cook at the Little Rock City Jail.

A spokesman for the hospital said Marcelene will begin a series of tests Friday to determine what can be done for a heart malformation. The hospital official described the condition as "an auricular septal defect," in which there is an opening in the partition separating the two auricles, or upper chambers, of the heart. This hinders the normal flow of oxygenated blood from the heart to the rest of the body.

Doctors also said there appeared to be an associated condition which affects the flow of blood from the pulmonary artery and the lungs.

These findings were developed in a series of preliminary tests and an exploratory operation at Hopkins last March.

Howard M. Albaugh, Frederick, Md., vice councilor. Baltimore was chosen for the 1956 convention.

Arsonist Gets Hearing Today

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Sept. 14 (AP)—A West Virginia man accused of setting five fires in downtown Hagerstown will receive a preliminary hearing tomorrow.

Authorities said Detective Albert Lowry decided to quiz Charles M. Watson, 30, of Charles Town, W. Va., on a lunch after he was picked up in another case.

The man had been sentenced to 60 days on a charge of taking $50 from a house. Lowry determined he arrived in Hagerstown two days before four of the fires occurred a week ago.

On questioning, State's Attorney Tom Kaylor said the man acknowledged setting the fires because he "got a thrill out of them."

None of the fires were at homes. All resulted in minor damage. One was in a car, another at a railroad freight loading platform, a third at a foundry shed, and another in an alley where a trailer loaded with waste paper was parked. Still another fire, authorities said, was touched off by 22 caliber bullets wrapped in turpentine-soaked paper.

Threatened Hotel Strike Averted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (AP)—A threatened strike of 5,000 hotel and restaurant workers in Washington was averted today.

Representatives of 24 hotels and five unions announced they had agreed on a new two-year contract providing non-tipped workers with an immediate three cent an hour increase. Another three cent increase will become effective Sept. 1, 1956.

GRIN AND BEAR IT

By Lichty

"What was so fascinating about this folk song program? . . . He just sang a lot of old washing powder 'commercials' . . ."

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Sept. 14—(INS)—It's a melancholy business, bringing a stationwagon of children back to the city for school. As Manhattan's roaring traffic's boom drew closer and closer the silence deepened in our creaking wagon. I felt like the driver of a tumbrel inching into the Place de la Concorde.

"Put the safety catches down on the doors," their mother said. There would be no escapes this late in the game. There had been enough trouble that day catching, shoeing, and shearing one of them whose allergy to barber shops had made him look a great deal like a Tibetan Lhasa Apso. Shorn, shining, scented and sad he now watched the fields of Jersey slip behind and the prongs of New York fill the sky ahead.

What happened to summer? For a kid it must be like bailing out of a high-flying plane. For a long time he floats in a delightfully unobstructed world . . . A world without sharp edges . . . A time of lying in the sun and gripping the cool grass or the elusive sand to keep from being flung off into space by the roll of the earth.

Then, get ready! Brace! It's over! Quick! where did you drop that schoolbag last June? The last week of vacation around our place went so fast there wasn't time to say goodbye to some they'd never see again; there wasn't time to say to the kids they had battled, and vice versa, "sorry, let's shake."

The quiet streets of Allenhurst, whose shade trees and old white "General Grant" houses march up from the Atlantic in pleasant cad-year," the hard-pressed driver said, with pathetic cheerfulness. "That ought to be something." His voice trailed off. None of his children replied.

"Don't seem possible," the youngest boy finally said. "Gosh Tomorrow, clean clothes and school." Each was a dire prospect. "Dope!" another said scornfully. "It's not tomorrow we go. It's the day A F T E R tomorrow."

Maybe it was an air-conditioned movie we passed at that moment, or perhaps a vagrant breeze of the lost vacation has caught up with us. But in our wagon there was a new little note. It said, in substance, "well, things aren't as bad as we thought. School doesn't start tomorrow after all. It's the day after."

The ragged little company climbed out of a car, dragging its ammunition—a .22, a clanking tool kit, an arrowless bow, and a dog name Mimi. The group headed for the door of the apartment house pausing only once to gaze upward at a new skyscraper across the street.

"Well, wadda-you know," a boy said. "The Colgate-Palmolive building got built since I left. And look, the Christmas tree is still up here!" He pointed to the top of the towering supply elevator shaft which had been used to build the building proper. Last Christmas Eve a helmeted steelworker lashed a little tree to the top of it. It is there today, shredded but still proud as a banner.

But it takes a child to see it. (Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.)

Damage Suit Is Settled

A settlement has been reached and filed in Allegany County Circuit Court in the damage suit involving injuries of a little girl who was struck by a car on a Cumberland street.

A suit for $5,000 damages had been entered against Omer L. Miller by Georgette Marie Cline, four years old, through her mother, Mrs. Margaret Butts, and another suit for $1,000 by Mrs. Butts. The agreement signed by William C. Walsh, attorney for Mrs. Butts, and William J. Gunter, for the defendant, shows the child was awarded $839.25 and the mother $700.

According to the suit, the child was struck by the car operated by Miller on March 28 in the 900 block of Maryland Avenue.

The child suffered fractures of both legs and her right arm and a deep laceration on the forehead.

The first circulating library in America was founded in Philadelphia in 1731.

Churches Plan Study Course

The classes are slated each day at 7:30 p.m. at LaVale church. The title of the book to be studied is "A Church Using Its Sunday School."

Every driver occasionally has to make sudden stops. After a few experiences on various types of pavement he discovers he can stop quicker on concrete. Tests such as one conducted by the Checker Cab Company of Milwaukee confirm this.

Quicker stops are possible on concrete because its gritty surface, wet or dry, gives your tires better traction. You stop fast—and without skidding. So when you have to "stop on a dime" concrete may mean the difference between safety and tragedy.

Railroads Come To Life, Market Advances Spritely

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (AP)—The stock market made a spritely advance today when railroads came to life late in the session under a mild amount of buying.

The rails in the last couple of sessions were quite backward, and this discouraged many traders. Today they started slowly and were lower most of the day.

In the final hour they turned up with some gains excellent. Union Pacific was up 5 at 174, Baltimore & Ohio up 2 1/2 at 51 1/2, and Atlantic Coast Line up 2 1/2 at 49.

Most of the rest of the strength in the market was on an individual basis. Motors as a group were higher and most aircrafts were up.

The steels were down a shade. Minus signs were widely scattered. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 90 cents at $179.90, the seventh straight new record high. Last Tuesday on the day after Labor Day the average hit its first new record high following the reaction that started July 25.

It has edged up to new highs every day since.

Sears Roebuck, 70 6 points yesterday, was ahead 2 more points today at 109 1/2. Among other gainers were Chrysler up 1/2, Studebaker-Packard 1/4, U. S. Rubber 2.

Judge Orders Sanity Study

The trial of two men accused of firing at automobiles on Route 40 near Uniontown was called off suddenly yesterday when the presiding judge in the case ordered an investigation of the sanity of one defendant and directed acquittal of the other for lack of evidence.

The action was taken by Judge Samuel D. Braemer who ordered William Winchester Jackson, 59, of Albuquerque, N. M., committed to Fayette County Jail pending appointment of a commission which will investigate Jackson's sanity.

Acquitted by the directed verdict was Samuel P. Johnson, 39, of Los Angeles, who had claimed he was a hitchhiker and had been picked up by Jackson in his panel truck.

The two men had been accused of wounding five motorists and puncturing at least 11 autos. Jackson allegedly had used two pistols in blazing away at the vehicles after becoming incensed at their failure to dim headlights.

Asks Bids For Road To Glass Plant

The State Roads Commission will soon advertise for bids for the construction of the approach road into Works 7 of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company at North Branch. Included in the approach will be a 214-foot steel beam, three span bridge with a 28-foot roadway. The State Roads Commission in its notice to contractors said bids will be opened at noon Tuesday, October 4, at the SRC offices, 108 East Lexington Street, Baltimore. G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer, pointed out that the funds for construction are being furnished by Allegheny County taxpayers on match-fund basis with the Federal Bureau of Roads. It is estimated the project will cost in the neighborhood of a half million dollars. Chaires pointed out that the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will pay for about 10 per cent of the cost of the overhead bridge, Chaires said. Chaires added that the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company will furnish the successful contractor with some of its excavation material to be used as fills in the approaches. The SRC has awarded the contract for subsurface exploration on the east slope of Martin Mountain in the area of the proposed road new location of the highway to the Raymond Concrete Pile Company of Baltimore. That firm's bid was $3,398.

Cut Excessive Speed To Slash Traffic Toll

Campaign against excessive speed on the highways can be credited with being a major factor in holding down the accident rate. But it is a fool behind the wheel that most often gets a fast-moving car into trouble.

Speed merely is something that man misuses when he exceeds limits set according to varying highway conditions.

This reflection naturally follows reading of a recent report on the New Jersey Turnpike. The year after it opened—as safe as good engineering could make it—the fatality rate jumped to six deaths for every 100 million miles driven. That was a great deal worse than the rate for the regular New Jersey highways.

What was the matter? Was it possible that careful elimination of grade crossings, steep hills and bad curves really made a fine road more dangerous?

No engineer would accept such a conclusion willingly—and neither did the Turnpike management. The following year, 1953, these things were done: "The state police put 77 extra patrolmen on to the Turnpike, added more safety signs and devices, and later began to use radar."

The result was astonishing. By 1954 the death rate had fallen to 2.47 deaths per 100 million miles. That is considerably lower than the ordinary highway rate in New Jersey. And it proves that it's excessive speed—too much speed for conditions—that kills. On the Turnpike the 60 mph limit is still in effect in normal good weather.

The final comparison is impressive. If the New Jersey Turnpike death rate had been applied nationally during 1953 and 1954, more than 27,000 lives would have been saved.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
The Voluntary Society

These mountains in Massachusetts and Connecticut do not have large rivers or raging streams. It is a quiet land. It was these streams that went wild, expanded into broad rivers, carrying down millions of tons of rock and rubble, dumping the debris on farms and roads, tearing down houses.

So now we know what can happen in these peaceful mountains. It may not happen again in our lives and we shall forget and the politicians will somehow consume the money voted for river improvement and flood protection.

On the other hand, we discovered what an amazing people we are. Simple, quiet men suddenly became heroes. Most of us think of Civil Defense as something that has to do with the Russians bombing us. But we discovered that all of a sudden our neighbors were the Civil Defense. They manned the parapets. There was Clifford Clark, farmer and innkeeper and head of Civil Defense of Otis, who belabored the Otis Dam. Nobody here ever thought of Clifford Clark as a man of tremendous action, but there he was, with strength and knowledge, holding that dam which, had it given way, the devastation in the Farmington River Valley would have been ten times what it was. He and David Judson, farm and ski-manager, graduate of Yale, had set up a radio walkie-talkie which worked and which made communications sure.

There was Dr. Henry Erbe, little man who rides a hundred or more miles every day looking after the health of Otis, New Boston and Sandisfield, working around the clock while ducks and heli copters brought in the stricken. There was Charlie Allan, First Selectman of Sandisfield, riding through the night warning the people to leave their homes—riding, through rain and storm, on roads turning into rivers, saving lives.

I could go on naming names, but there is no room. I am describing the alertness, the initiative, the self-sacrifice of what we suddenly discovered was a Civil Defense organization cooperating with what our people call "the Blue Boys," the State Police, who too were busy saving lives, rescuing people, fighting death rather than misbehavior.

And then the Red Cross stepped in. And in each of our little towns there was a Red Cross station, mostly in a church. And quickly there were cots to sleep on and hot coffee to drink. It was enough because there was nothing else. And soon the Red Cross was functioning both on a volunteer and a professional basis, not only providing relief but laboring for long-range rehabilitation.

If you were to travel from West New Boston to Campetti's farm just south of New Boston, the havoc in so small an area, normally less than 10 minutes by car, is beyond belief. Campetti's alfalfa and corn fields have been cut to ribbons, large gullies running in all directions. This farm had been the pride of the young people in our area because two youngsters had married and put heart and loins into making it a wonderful New England farm of the old days when this was good agricultural country. It is a desert now, covered with gravel, sand, boulders and torn to shreds.

This is something nobody ever saw in these parts and nobody knows how to handle. When people are hungry, they can be fed, but when the top soil is gone, what does one do? We thought it was a terrible calamity when a company came and tore through farm and woods, laying a pipe-line and leaving the land scarred. Our farmers feared that their cows might break their legs in that swath, but, in time, nature healed that and grass grew and the holes filled in and the cows did not break their legs.

But how does a gully heal? How to cover the ground with soil that will again yield corn and alfalfa? And into that problem entered the Red Cross to help rehabilitate our people. It is only to be hoped that a better way will be found than suggesting to our people to leave their land to brush, to move elsewhere. What we have of our native population are those who came here from the Hartford Colony to protect it from Indians and who have stayed here since because they loved the wild, granite mountains covered with pine and maple.

This Takes Real Courage

Truman's Remark On MacArthur Case Puzzling

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—Many people here who have a respect for the facts of contemporaneous history are still puzzled over the remark made by former President Truman the other day that his only regret about the MacArthur episode is that he didn't fire the general "two years sooner."

This would have been April 1949. That date was more than a year before the Korean war began. General MacArthur at the time was being applauded widely—in Washington, too—for the success he was making as the commander of the American occupation forces engaged in the reconstruction of Japan.

Also, after April 1949 Mr. Truman on more than one occasion publicly and privately showed his confidence in General MacArthur. Thus, early in July 1950, General MacArthur was appointed commander-in-chief of the United Nations forces in Korea and he wired President Truman:

"I can only repeat the pledge of my complete personal loyalty to you as well as an absolute devotion to your monumental struggle for peace and goodwill throughout the world. I hope I will not fail you."

To this, Mr. Truman replied: "Your words confirm me . . . in my full belief in the wisdom of your selection."

Again, on December 25, 1950, Mr. Truman congratulated General MacArthur on the successful maneuver of his troops out of the pocket into which the intervention of Red Chinese armies had placed them in Korea. The message read:

"I wish to express my personal thanks . . . For the effective operation. It is the best Christmas present I have had."

There was an incident in August 1950 when a misunderstanding arose about a message which General MacArthur had sent to a convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Chicago. It was in this telegram that the general had outlined the importance of holding on to Formosa and supporting the Nationalist government. But, two months later—October 15—Mr. Truman and the general were holding their famous conference at Wake Island, after which the President told the press:

"General MacArthur and I have talked fully about Formosa. There is no need to cover that subject again. The general and I are, in complete agreement."

It was only six months later when General MacArthur, answering what he thought was a routine inquiry from a member of Congress, wrote to Representative Martin of Massachusetts expressing the same views that he had expressed before on Formosa and the importance of winning the war in Korea. Yet it was this letter which aroused the ire of Mr. Truman and caused him to dismiss the general without so much as the courtesy of a hearing.

No outcry over this failure of "due process" and obvious disregard of "Constitutional rights" came from the "left wingers." Maybe if the general had shown some sympathy with the Communist cause or had had an uncle or an aunt in the Communist Party, there would have been a wave of protest from the "left wingers." But he was only an American general who had gallantly fought his way back to the Philippines from Wake Island to island in the Western Pacific and who had served his country under fire not only in two world wars but also in the Korean "police action" in which 33,600 Americans were killed and 103,500 wounded.

Speaking also of Constitutional rights, the "left wing" has always raised a furor over legislation to authorize "wire tapping," which the Department of Justice thinks under certain safeguards should be allowed so as to help catch criminals. But no protest came from the "left wingers" in a flagrant case of eavesdropping which is in the records in connection with the Wake Island conference. A stenographer was allowed to listen at a keyhole and when, in later months, it suited the Administration politically to slip the notes to a newspaper, this was done in an effort to injure MacArthur.

Describing the incident in a recent issue of "Life" magazine, General Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's "man Friday," writes:

"Without our knowledge the private secretary of Philip Jessup, a member of the Presidential party, has evidently been secreted behind a partially opened door to the conference room. Lurking behind the door, she could record only what she could hear through the small opening and what she could see by peeping through the keyhole, with the result that her account of the conference could at best be sadly inadequate."

There was, General Whitney declares, a political purpose behind the Wake Island conference. He writes:

"But what Truman personally—and the Democratic Party—gained by the trip was tremendous in terms of political advantage. By this one stroke, only three weeks before the 1950 Congressional elections, the President was able to establish a connection between his Administration and the military strategy against which most of his military advisers had argued but which had just won the great victory at Inchon."

So it is still a puzzle as to why Truman now says he should have fired MacArthur "two years sooner."

Abnormal Fatigue May Cause Illness Symptoms

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

A startling article appears in a newspaper or magazine every now and then concerning the number of well persons who consult physicians because of imaginary ailments. Estimates vary from 50 to 80 per cent and the authors imply that in the majority of these patients, symptoms are of nervous or emotional origin.

In my opinion, these figures are a little high. In addition, most armchair medical strategists give the impression that physicians have nothing to offer this group of individuals, who suffer largely from minor ailments such as vague abdominal pain, headache, palpitation, fatigue, or failure to concentrate.

The physician begins with a thorough examination and if no physical abnormality can be found, he tries to determine whether the patient has a disturbing emotional problem. Some persons develop symptoms following the death of a friend or relative from heart disease or cancer. With reassurance, their complaints disappear.

Others respond temporarily to a sedative, tonic, or vitamins but symptoms are likely to recur in the same or a different form if the basic cause of their fatigue, insomnia, or nervous indigestion is not removed.

Some never improve because they came into this world with an inferior constitution and have trouble competing with the more robust. They never had an overabundance of energy and never will have. Dr. Sol Hirsch of New York City calls them well patients who feel sick. They dissipate their energy reserve quickly.

As a result, they suffer from a variety of symptoms ranging from migraine to intestinal cramps. In other words, it is not normal fatigue. Individual variations are common because some have a greater energy supply than others do or are better able to conserve what they have.

Dr. Hirsch says that avoidable energy drainers consist of faulty eating habits, poor food, persistent overwork and overplay, unnecessary speeding up of all activities, inadequate rest and sleep, and excesses in sex, drinking, and smoking. All these factors are relative because what is excessive for one may be normal for another.

Avoidable causes include allergy and the endocrine disorders associated with menstruation or the menopause. A borderline low blood sugar or blood calcium puts the man or woman at a disadvantage because minor chemical changes can lead to various symptoms.

Emotional trauma plays a role especially when it leads to anxiety, hysteria, or hypochondriasis. Past infections, toxicity, and nutritional

French Could Learn North African Lesson From U. S. Cuban Policy

By Drew Pearson

HAVANA — This is a city of old Spanish fortresses with dungeons as deep as Cuban politics; of electric signs against the skyline touting Canada Dry and Cadillacs; of palatial penthouses and outdoor cafes with little tables on the sidewalks where orchestras have given way to television; where the opera house features a child-welfare center; and where the growling sea dashes over the wall of the Malaccan as the political opposition growls at any President in power.

It's a city where an American Embassy of modernistic glass juts out like a champagne bottle against the earthy jug of ancient Havana; where one of the most modern newspapers in the world, El Mundo, features aspirin tablets pasted onto its pages and perfumed ink in its soap advertisements. It's a city where you can see John Hughes, get kissed on the barren bean by a Tropicana chorus girl and see Bob Jackson, onetime FDR New Hampshire National Committeeman, dancing with a blonde among the gaming tables. It's a city where Ernest Hemingway challenges Ted Scott of the Havana Post to a duel because Mrs. Hemingway didn't like Scott's negative appetite for lion steaks.

It's a city of limousines and pushcarts, of klaxons and peddler's bells; a city that is renowned for sin, yet whose sin pales besides the juvenile jungles of Harlem; a city where sugar is king; where, when sugar falls or America cuts the quota, unemployment, unrest and the threat of Communism stalk the streets of Havana; but when sugar is up, gaiety runs riot through the stately palms, the fantastic trimmed laurel hedges, the hibiscus that line the streets of Havana. It's a city where radio-commentator-political-leader Eddie Chibas shoots himself in front of the microphone in protest against the graft of the previous administration; it's a city both modern and medieval, whose main passion is politics — all ruled by an ex-army sergeant who once threw out Cuba's most hated dictator and is now accused by his enemies of being a dictator himself. That is Havana.

Morocco vs. Cuba
I came down here partly to get away from the incessant drum-beat of American politics. I got into the more romantic bongo drum-beat of Cuban politics. I came down also to make some comparisons between what the French are doing in Morocco with what we did in Cuba.

Whereas the French have hung onto wealthy, turbulent North Africa until it's afire under their own feet, we hauled down the Stars and Stripes in wealthy, turbulent Cuba in 1902, three years after the Spanish War. And we watched the lone star of the Cuban Republic go up in its place. Later, in 1933, we scrapped the Platt Amendment which gave us the right to intervene for the purpose of keeping peace and order in the neighboring, sometimes bloody, lone-star Republic.

Were we wise? Should the French long ago have followed our example — not only in North Africa but in Indo-China? Should the Dutch have followed our lead in Indonesia? Should the British now follow our lead in Hong Kong? Were we wise in granting independence to the Philippines? Would the whole Communistic scourge in the Far East have been avoided if the French, British and Dutch long ago had done for their colonies what we did with Cuba and the Philippines?

Most Americans would say yes. A Turbulent Neighbor
Some, however, point out that after Cuba's "butcher" President Machado was thrown out of office with the blessing of the Roosevelt Administration, Cuba had nine different Presidents in quick succession. They point out that graft has been rampant; that the recent Prio Administration announced it was burning several million pesos to be replaced by new currency but that these bills later turned up in the pockets of certain Prio personalities.

They also point out that one minister of education, the late Jose Manuel Aleman, under President Grau, carted so many suitcases of cash off to Florida that he owned the Miami Sports Palace plus several hotels and even had the nerve when asked by U.S. customs what was in his baggage to tell them the truth—"cash."

Finally they point out that the sergeant who kicked out Machado is now back in the Presidential palace without benefit of elections.

Almost every step you take in Havana you bump into a politician or a would-be politician. Each of them can tell you—as in the U.S.A.—what's wrong with the country—which, after all, is one prerogative of self-government. And about half of them will tell you Fulgencia Batista, the ex-army sergeant, is a dictator, the other half swear by him as a savior.

To find out the nature of this remarkable man who has governed Cuba directly or indirectly for more than a decade I went to see him.

The palace in which he lives I had once visited in the middle of the Machado Administration. It was then lined with machine guns. Searchlights glared down from the ramparts at night.

This time a couple of guards lounged round a Coca-Cola vending machine inside a rear door. Not even an armed sentry paced outside.

Inside, in the President's office, I found the man some Cubans call a dictator to be a genial, mild-mannered gentleman of about 50 with a command of the English language that put my Spanish to shame and eyes which poorly concealed a sense of humor that frequently confounds his Cabinet.

"My minister to the President is getting old," he told me, with a kidding glance at the minister. "We used to work here until 3 or 4 in the morning. But I let him get off at midnight and even so he's sleepy."

For a couple of hours I questioned President Batista about the problems of a country which is our third-nearest and most important neighbor, and I'll report further on the visit tomorrow.

'Sherm' Again

WASHINGTON

The story of how the Eisenhower administration tried to bring Benjamin V. Cohen back into government service, makes as peculiar a political anecdote as Washington has produced in many a year.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles wanted, and the President apparently also wanted, to put Cohen on the American delegation to the United Nations. If the Secretary and the President had got their way, this single act would have considerably altered the style and appearance of present American foreign policy-making.

To be sure, Cohen has long ceased to be the inflammatory figure that he was in the high New Deal days of the famous Cochran-Cohen partnership. His post war greatest friend and sponsor was James F. Byrnes, who brought Cohen into the State Department when he became Secretary of State. Later, Cohen served on the UN delegation with acknowledged distinction; and in this last assignment he worked rather intimately with John Foster Dulles, when Dulles was the Republican symbol of bi-partisanship in a Democratic administration.

But President Eisenhower has been curiously more partisan than his supposedly too partisan predecessor. Under Eisenhower, there are no equivalents to Dulles and Forrestal, McCloy and Lovett and all the other men of their sort who played such a great role in the Truman years. Hence it would have been a great and novel step, if Ben Cohen had become the Democratic symbol of bi-partisanship in this Republican administration.

Secretary Dulles, at any rate, was entirely ready to take this step. Some time before the summit meeting at Geneva he asked Cohen whether he would consent to serve again on our delegation to the UN. He added that he had discussed the matter with the President, who hoped that Cohen would accept.

Not wishing to become a symbol of bi-partisanship without his party behind him, Cohen asked for time. He then consulted the Democratic House and Senate leaders, Sam Rayburn and Lyndon Johnson, and the party's national leaders, former President Truman and Adlai Stevenson. All urged Cohen to accept Dulles' offer; and he thereupon did so.

At this point, a slight preliminary hitch developed. Walter F. George of Georgia, the Democratic foreign policy chief in the Senate, was then in the hospital. Secretary Dulles intimated that it was not quite certain that Senator George would go along. After some delay, however, Dulles renewed his offer to Cohen in the majesty cally combined names of himself, the President and Senator George. Cohen renewed his acceptance, and so the matter seemed to be settled when Dulles and Eisenhower departed for the Geneva meeting.

Then came the real hitch. Evidently rumors of the impending Cohen appointment had reached the ears of the more extreme sort of Republican rightwingers. No doubt this faction in the party came down like a ton of bricks on the President's personal chief of staff, Governor Sherman Adams.

At any rate, with both Dulles and the President absent at the summit, Adams took the remarkable step of calling on Cohen at his Washington apartment, to ask him to change his mind about Dulles' offer. There would be a lot of trouble on Capitol Hill, Adams said. The session was just ending, he went on, and if possible a fight ought to be avoided. Would Cohen therefore withdraw the promise he had given Dulles, and so make it unnecessary for Adams to send his name to the Senate?

After some thought, Cohen consented to do as he was asked. The failure of the Cohen appointment was therefore an accomplished fact when Secretary Dulles returned from the summit meeting. He expressed his deep regret to Cohen. He rather curiously remarked that he thought the appointment could probably have been put through, if he and the President had not been absent at Geneva. And he ended, rather lamely, by claiming that the real opposition to the Cohen appointment had come from the Democrats, and specifically from Acting Senate Leader Earle C. Clements of Kentucky.

The claim was transparently incorrect. Senator Clements would never, under any circumstances reject a project already approved by Senators Johnson and George. Furthermore, the Kentuckian specifically denied that he had ever, at any time, objected to the nomination of Cohen to the UN delegation. Someone, in short, sold Secretary Dulles a strictly phony bill of goods.

But these political intricacies are only significant because they illustrate the labyrinthine character of present day politics. What matters much more is the proof of the remaining blackmail power of the Republican extremists. The proof is all the more ironically entertaining in this instance, because the extremists' primary objection to Cohen stems from his views on the Formosa problem, and Cohen's views on Formosa have now come to be the views of President Eisenhower, if not yet of Secretary Dulles.

Archery Deer Season Opens Tomorrow

75-Day Season For Bow Hunters

KEYSER—With the opening of the annual deer season in West Virginia tomorrow, a number of the Green Mountain Archers, of Keyser, are making final plans for entering the woods on the opening day to try their marksmanship. Some of the more experienced bow and arrow club members are enthusiastic at the opening of the season, and others in the club who have never done any bow and arrow hunting, are determined to get in the wood to test their marksmanship.

The club held a meeting Wednesday evening at the club range on Green Mountain, near the Keyser Airport and completed plans for the opening of the hunting season. There will be 75 days this year, in which deer may be hunted in this state by archers. During portions of this open season specified other game may be hunted also.

The archers have spotted deer tracks and deer trails. For those not familiar with some of the rules and regulations of bow and arrow hunting, these facts have been discussed for their benefits:

Deer (any age or sex) may be hunted with a long bow (Cross bows are illegal) September 15 through November 26, in all territory open to deer hunting during the regular season.

A long bow may be substituted for a gun during any hunting season. It is unlawful however, to carry both a gun and bow in the field or woods at the same time.

The bag limits apply to all methods of hunting.

The bow weight shall be not less than 30 pounds.

The minimum width of sharpened broadhead arrow point is 7/8 of an inch. Multi-blade arrow points are legal.

Possession of barbed arrows, while hunting, is prohibited.

The deer kill is to be checked by a conservation officer.

Other game, such as squirrels, grouse and wild turkeys, become legal game with a bow and arrow on October 15. A field hunting point is usually used when hunting this smaller game.

One Of Area's Oldest Churches Planning All-Day Homecoming Sunday, Sept. 18

Oakland Methodist, Near Berkeley Springs Extends Welcome

BERKELEY SPRINGS — The oldest rural church congregation in Morgan County, at Oakland Methodist Church in Timber Ridge District, will welcome back all former members, neighbors and friends Sunday, September 18, at a homecoming celebration with a noon-day picnic dinner on the church grounds.

Former members and descendants are spread over the entire country but many of them are still within the four-state area of Morgan, Hampshire, Berkeley and Jefferson Counties, in West Virginia; Washington, Allegany, and Frederick counties, Maryland; Fulton County, Pennsylvania, and Frederick County, Virginia.

The homecoming will be in a setting of large oak trees from which the community got its name, around a beautiful brick church erected in 1938. The church is the third at this site and the fourth for the congregation. In 1824 the congregation of Methodists built its first log church on the West Branch of Sleepy Creek near Phoenixville, on land given by the Rev. Mathias Rizer a Methodist local preacher. When this church burned, the new edifice was built on the Middle Fork of Sleepy Creek about two miles east of the original church in 1842 on land given by Robert Buck. The present church is the third there.

This community had one of the first mills, the first rural post office, and was for many years the trading center for the people living on all three branches of Sleepy Creek and on the Old Berkeley Springs to Winchester Grade.

A change of the road has left it off the main highway and today it is mostly a farm community with the mills, stores and post office business moved elsewhere on the main highway. A good road is now available to the community and the church and graveyard are well kept.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to obtain a decree of adoption.
The bill states that Elsie M. Ganger was married to Kenneth Otis Ganger in Lonaconing, Maryland, on the 31st day of December, 1948, and that one child, namely, Carol Lynn Ganger, born September 18, 1949, was born of said marriage; that thereafter on the 8th day of October, 1952, Elsie M. Ganger was divorced a vinculo matrimonii from Kenneth Otis Ganger by a decree of the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, and was awarded the care, custody and guardianship of Carol Lynn Ganger, infant child, that on the 17th day of October, 1952, Elsie M. Ganger was married to Richard L. Cutter, that since said marriage, Richard L. Cutter has acted as a parent toward said child as if she was his own; that the father, Kenneth Otis Ganger, whose last known address was 708 Ruddle Avenue, Anderson, Indiana, has contributed nothing toward the child's support or shown any interest in her; and that it would be to the best interest and welfare of the child that she be adopted and her name changed to Carol Lynn Cutter; and that said child is presently residing with its mother, Elsie M. Cutter, in Charlestown Street, Lonaconing, Allegany County, Maryland.
It is thereupon this 25th day of August, 1955, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, in Equity, ordered that the Petitioners by causing a copy of this Order to be published in some newspaper, once in each of four successive weeks, before the 20th day of September, 1955, giving notice to the said Kenneth Otis Ganger of the object and purpose of this suit and warning him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 13th day of October, 1955, to show cause, if any he has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Police Investigating Accosting Report

City Police are investigating a report by a local resident that his daughter and foster-daughter, ages 8 and 11, were accosted by three young men in a car yesterday morning at the corner of Bedford and Centre Streets while the girls were on their way to Centre Street School.

The complaint was received from Alvin Brill, of 117 Frederick Street, police said.

The young men attempted to entice the girls into the car with the promise they would take them to school, Brill said the girls asked a passerby if she would accompany them to school. The car had pulled to the curb again in the vicinity of St. Patrick's Church but went on its way when occupants saw the girls were escorted, Brill said.

Zany Scores At Wheeling

Mrs. Duncan's Filly Pays $38.60 Mutuel

Zany, 4-year-old filly, owned by Mrs. Helen Duncan, wife of L. N. Duncan, general manager of the Queen City Brewing Company, won the five furlongs third race at Wheeling Downs yesterday and returned $38.60, 16.00 and $10.00 for $2 win, place and show tickets.

It was Zany's second win of the year in 10 outings and the $385 purse boosted her earnings to $1,500 for 1955. Zany registered her first win of the year at Fairgo on June 23 with Willie Clark aboard. She also won second money at the local half mile oval. Last year Zany captured a Fairgo race by the margin of 18 lengths.

Zany's big difficulty is getting out of the starting gate. The same applies to her full brother, Late Return, who won $12,000 last year and is now at Hawthorne Park in Chicago.

The Duncans purchased Zany from Bob Duffy, the well known owner and trainer of Bel Air, Md., when she was a 2-year-old and had started twice. Last year in 14 outings she won twice, placed twice and earned $1,750. This year her record is 2-2-0 in 10 races—two at Fairgo, three at Charles Town and five at Wheeling Downs.

Jockey Robert Runyon was aboard Zany yesterday. A chestnut filly by Zayin-Sufaragete. Zany was trained by William D. Thomas when she raced here but her trainer is L. Lamm.

Johnny Cox's 2-Run Homer Decides Tilt

Sheetz Posts Fourth Win In Row; Eleven Players Get Awards

Johnny Cox's two-run homer in the third inning enabled the Cumberland Fraternal Order of Eagles of the Rocking Chair League to defeat the Potomac Valley Old Germans, champions of the County League, in the championship game of the fourth Western Maryland Softball Tournament last night at Penn Avenue Field. The score was 4-2.

The Eagles' victory was their second in the four-year history of the tourney. In 1953 the boys from Aerle No. 245 defeated the Hercules Powder Kegs in the championship battle.

Cox's circuit belt to centerfield followed a pass to Clay Ingram with two out in the top of the third with Potomac Valley leading by the score of 2-1. The Eagles scored their insurance tally in the final frame.

Potomac Valley's initial tally was registered in the first inning when Basilio, who was hit by a pitched ball, came home on a wild pitch. The Old Germans took a 2-1 lead in the second frame when Bill Ware doubled and crossed the platter on Skelly's base walkoff.

Sheetz Posts 4th Win

Al Sheetz went the distance for the Eagles, yielded four hits, struck out seven, failed to issue a base on balls and notched his fourth straight win of the tourney. He previously had eliminated Capital Bowling, 15-3, Johnson's Grocery, 4-0, and McCoolle V.F.W., 6-0. Two of the games he defeated were one-hitters. Sheetz closed out the season by whiffing the side in the 7th to rack up his 20th triumph against seven losses.

Junior Brelsford, an 11-0 winner in the County League, who ushered out Nave's Market on Tuesday by the score of 11-4, went the route for the Old G's and took the loss. He struck out nine, getting the side in the second, issued one walk and yielded eight hits.

Cox and Ingram shared four of the Eagles' eight blows. Johnny smacked a single in addition to his four-master while Clay obtained a double, six and base on balls. Lou Riehl chipped in with a three-base walkoff. Bill Ware banged a double and single for the losers. Potomac Valley's other hits were Johnny Price's two-bagger and a one-base knock by Skelly.

Win Trophy And $50

The championship netted the Eagles a trophy and $50 in cash while the Old Germans received the $30 cash award for the runner-up.

Jimmy Collins, of Hygienic Sanitation, received the Sportsmanship Trophy.

Trophies also were presented by the City Recreation Department, sponsor of the tourney in which 12 teams participated, to members of the all-tournament team of ten players chosen by a committee of four. The team:

INFIELDERS — Frank Urbas, Potomac Valley; Niles Harper, Nave's Market; Clay Ingram, Eagles; and Tucker Cain, McCoolle V.F.W.

OUTFIELDERS — Bill Underdonk and Bill Dean, Eagles; and George Hixenbaugh, Outdoor Club.

CATCHER — Tear Speir, Loyal Order of Moose.

PITCHERS — Allen Sheetz, Eagles; and Junior Brelsford, Potomac Valley.

The score:

Eagles 102 000 1-4 8 0

Potomac Valley 110 000 x-2 4 2

Sheetz and Riehl, Brelsford and Barton. HR—Cox (Eagles).

Southpaw Paul LaPalme, St. Louis knuckleball pitcher, likes to face the New York Giants. In 21 innings this season he has shut them out.

Joe Conrad, British champion, defeated Edwin Collett Vare, Yale captain-elect, 4 and 3, and Bob Gardner, New York, 3 and 1.

Joe Campbell, Anderson, Ind., defeated Art Hoff, LaGrange, Ill., 2 up, and Ed Meister, Cleveland, 4 and 3.

Hillman Robbins, Memphis, Tenn., defeated Ray Billow, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., 9 and 7, and George McCallister, Los Angeles, 5 and 4.

Jack Howard, Jr., Augusta, Ga., defeated Jim Jackson, St. Louis, 3 and 2, and Cliff Eley, Annapolis, Md., 4 and 2.

William Waryan, Minneapolis, defeated Ted Bishop, Dedham, Mass., 3 and 2, and Tom Draper, Royal Oak, Mich., 3 and 2.

Robert McCall, Canfield, Ohio, defeated Willie Turnesa, Elmford, N. Y., 4 and 3.

Ed Meister, Cleveland, defeated Bill Campbell, Huntington, W. Va., 4 and 3.

Mel Roach, former football star at the University of Virginia and ex-Milwaukee baseball player, is doing a hitch in the Navy at Norfolk, Va.

The A's hopped on Red Sox relief pitcher George Susce with one out in the eighth.

Joe Astroth doubled but was run down near third on Art Dittmar's grounder. Vic Power, whose home run produced the other Athletics' tally, was given an intentional walk. Harry Simpson also walked, loading the bases.

Zernial then crashed a Susce delivery into the screen just to the left of the flagpole in left center to settle matters.

Eight of his homers have been off Boston pitchers.

Kansas City tied the score 3-3 when Sox starter Ike Delock weakened with two out in the seventh inning.

Power, one of the American League's leading basemen, socked his 19th home run into the left field screen. After Simpson singled, Zernial tagged his 27th homer—a lofty fly that sailed over fence and net.

When Hector Lopez doubled off the wall, Delock was yanked in favor of Susce. Pinchhitter Enos Slaughter was given an intentional walk before Jim Finigan's ground-out closed the inning.

Boston picked up single runs in the third, fifth and sixth innings for a temporary 3-0 edge.

Yankees Buy Gerry Staley

CINCINNATI, Sept. 14 (AP)—Gerry Staley, veteran pitcher, today was sold to the New York Yankees by the Cincinnati baseball club. He will report immediately.

Staley, who has won five and lost eight this season, was taken by the American League club via the waiver route.

Tribe Signs Hurler

OSHKOSH, Wis., Sept. 14 (AP) — Dave Tyrivier, 17-year old pitcher who won 28 games and lost four for the Oshkosh Junior American Legion baseball team in three years of play, has signed a contract with the Cleveland Indians. La Fayette, Ind., farm club, Tyrivier will report in the spring.

Swaps Is Recovering From Hoof Operation

CHINO, Calif., Sept. 14 (AP)—California's race horse, Swaps, was recovering "satisfactorily" today from an operation on his right front hoof and owner Rex Ellsworth and trainer Mish Tenney believe the colt will return to racing form this winter.

Swaps, troubled by the ailing foot since early in 1955, apparently reinjured himself in his disappointing match race with Nashua in Chicago Aug. 30.

Inquiry at the Ellsworth Ranch brought word that a soft spot was cut away under what was described as the bar of the hoof. "It is healing and drying out satisfactorily and we are encouraged that it will grow out clean and fresh. We do not anticipate any complications," said a spokesman.

City Requests Bids On New Garbage Pact

Charter Is Modified On Wage, Hour Issues

The City of Cumberland is advertising for bids on a new garbage contract which incorporates clauses provided in the third amendment to the city charter under constitutional home rule.

The bids will be opened by the Mayor and Council, on September 26 at 10 a. m., according to the notice to bidders issued by Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz.

The bids will be for the collection and removal of garbage, ashes, paper, rubbish and small dead animals for one year, beginning October 1, with options to renew the pact for three successive years.

Cites Charter Changes

The advertisement called attention to the provisions of the city charter, as enacted by Charter Amendment Resolution No. 3, passed July 25, which provides that employees of the contractor shall be governed by the same work week and hourly pay provisions applicable to similar classifications of city employees.

The charter amendment was sought by city officials following a circuit court ruling that bids asked earlier this year were not worded according to the city charter and must be readvertised.

The ruling prompted the city to modify its charter to eliminate previously unused provisions, passed in depression days, requiring garbage contractor's employees to work not more than 36 hours a week and be paid wages prevailing in the industry.

Pickup Clause Inserted

The advertisement also points out that the successful bidder will be required to provide emergency pickup service as may be directed by the City Health Department.

This provision was not included in the original bids asked earlier this year.

The Mayor and Council on April 19 opened bids submitted by four local men and later awarded the pact to John H. Riley and Son. The action was protested by Emmett A. Dougherty, former garbage contractor and the low bidder.

The situation resulted in a decision to reject all bids and re-advertise and this brought a taxpayers suit asking that the city be restrained from advertising again.

The charter amendment became effective this week, 50 days after its passage on July 25. Plans for advertising were made September 3, after the deadline for the filing of referendum petitions passed.

Teamsters Plan Meeting Sunday On Pact Offer

Local 453, Teamsters Union (AFL), will meet Sunday at 10 a. m. in the AFL Labor Temple to act on a contract offer made by nine trucking firms, according to Charles E. Bramble, union president.

Ratification of the pact, he said, would set the stage for the signing of pacts negotiated by other Teamsters locals in Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Bramble did not disclose terms of the package offer which includes wages and other benefits but said the union committee has agreed to recommend ratification.

The proposed contract is for three years and would be retroactive to September 1. Some 100 members of the union here would be covered.

The pact would cover employees of the Cumberland Motor Express, Maryland Motor Express, Harris Motor Express, Glenn Morris Transportation Company, Charlton Brothers Transportation Company, Novick Transfer Company, Chaney Transportation Company, Sanders Motor Express, and Crites Transfer Company.

Bramble said Teamsters locals in Maryland and the District of Columbia agreed this year that no contracts would be signed until all locals have reached contract agreements.

He said the union wants more uniform working conditions throughout the state. Wages will differ, he added.

New Machine Accelerates Court Work

Robert B. Thomas, circuit court stenographer for Allegany and Garrett counties, has acquired a handy machine which will accelerate his daily work.

It is a Stenoprompter. With the use of the machine, Thomas pointed out that transcribing his work from the stenotype machine to typewritten work will be simpler, speedier and more accurate.

When Thomas goes into court he records all testimony on the stenotype, (a code type machine) and later transcribes. He said that without too many interruptions at a normal speed at an average trial, he takes down from 30 to 35 pages of testimony.

This is later transcribed to typewritten work. Up until the time he got the new machine he would unfold the tape by hand in order to transcribe.

With the Stenoprompter a steady and continuous tape flow goes through the machine which is controlled by a foot pedal under his desk.

Aside from testimony taken down in criminal trials and other court proceedings, Thomas also records opinions handed down from the bench.

Thomas, who has been court stenographer for over five years, anticipates a busy month in that the grand jury is in session in Garrett County this month and here in Allegany County next month.

Bridge Repair Bid Accepted By State Board

The Board of Public Works, at a meeting Tuesday, approved a low bid of $18,701 received by the State Roads Commission for repairs to the 139-year-old Casselman River Bridge near Grantsville.

Cumberland Contracting Company turned in the low bid to fix up the old bridge for preservation as a point of historical interest.

Unused by traffic for about 20 years, the picturesque stone arch bridge — one of the original spans in the Old National Road — is clearly visible from the present U. S. 40 where the road passes over a more modern steel bridge across the Casselman.

Youth For Christ Rally Is Planned

Rev. O. A. Phillips, a member of the Hebrew Christian Fellowship, will address the Tri-State Youth For Christ Rally Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Delores Jackson Graduates At Lutheran Nursing School

Miss Delores J. Jackson has graduated from the Lutheran Hospital School of Nursing in Baltimore and after some additional study in a specialized field, plans to return here to practice.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Jackson, 225 Bedford Street, she is a graduate of Allegany High School, Class of 1952. She entered the Baltimore nursing school in September 1952, and received her diploma in graduation ceremonies September 6 on the lawn of the hospital school. There were 23 members of her class.

While in training, Miss Jackson was secretary of the Nurses Choral Club, chairman of the Skating Club, assistant chairman of the uniform and nominating committee, and a member of the Social Club and the Sewing Club.

She has a sister, Miss Joy Jackson, employed in the offices of the Kelly Springfield Tire Company plant here, and a brother, Lonnie

Older Youth Faces Grand Jury Action

A 16-year-old local youth yesterday was sentenced to the Maryland Training School for Boys and his 13-year-old brother was placed on parole for two years as a result of an assault on a nine-year-old boy here last Thursday.

The sentences were imposed in Juvenile Court by Magistrate Morris Baron in the case prosecuted by Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty.

Another youth implicated in the assault of Howard F. Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Jackson, 522 Necessity Street, was found not guilty.

Authorities said the lad was tied up, thrown into a freight car at the Buchanan Lumber Company siding and left helpless after the door was shut.

They said he suffered an abdominal injury, probably caused by a blow, in the assault. He required five days of hospital treatment, and was left in an "extremely nervous" condition.

Officials said the 16-year-old boy sentenced to the Training School has a previous record in Juvenile Court and also faces grand jury action on a paternity charge.

He will be taken to the training institution, they said, and will be brought back next month to appear before the grand jury.

Magistrate Baron ordered the younger brother to report weekly to the probation officer and to be of good behavior, attend school regularly and be off the street by 9 p. m. unless accompanied by his parents or a responsible adult.

Expressway Model Draws Big Crowds

The model of the overhead bridge section of the Cumberland Expressway system was seen by more than 2,000 persons yesterday, according to City Hall officials.

The model was placed in the rotunda of City Hall Tuesday afternoon and will be on display for some time to allow citizens to learn the relation of the viaduct to streets in the downtown area.

Officials said citizens began turning up before 8 a. m. to inspect the model.

Several hundred persons took time out from their lunch period to come to City Hall to see the design of the structure.

Executive Board To Meet

All volunteer fire companies of the Allegany-Garrett County Association, who have CD radio units are asked to send a representative to the meeting as important business will be discussed.

Tomorrow night's meeting will be the final deadline for those volunteer companies of the two counties who wish to acquire new or additional radio equipment under this year's appropriation.

Representatives of these companies are urged to attend. The cost of the CD radio equipment is borne by the federal government, state and county as well as the individual fire companies.

Employee Given Amcelle Award

Lewis is a checker in Bobbin Stores, one of the Extrusion auxiliaries. He is married and has four daughters.

Bridge Approach Work Progresses

Progress was noted by city officials yesterday on the construction of the Maryland approach to the Cumberland-Ridgeley Bridge.

The Cumberland Contracting Company has virtually completed laying concrete for the approach through Riverside Park and has laid two of the 12-foot lanes on Greene Street.

Both of these lanes can be opened to traffic Monday and will allow the contractor to begin paving the remaining lane on the east side of the street.

Several small sections will be paved today, officials said, to expedite the project.

The paving on the street is being made with high early strength concrete, which can be opened to traffic at the end of three days.

Work is also progressing on the Ridgeley approach to the bridge. Drainage work is about completed and crews are starting to lay the base for the blacktop roadway.

Spacing Of Gas Wells Agreed Upon

Garrett Problem Rather Complex

OAKLAND, Md., Sept. 14 (P)—A Legislative Council subcommittee ended two days of hearings here today with witnesses in agreement on spacing of gas wells but opposed to making one firm's gas line a common carrier for others.

Sen. DiDomenico, chairman of the subcommittee, said the problem was rather complex but he felt the committee had been enlightened by the testimony and would be able to do a better job.

The subcommittee, acting at the direction of a Legislative resolution, is trying to prepare a bill which would govern gas well drilling and operation in Maryland. Three measures in the past 10 years have failed to gain approval.

Provision Opposed

All gas well operators testifying were opposed to a provision in a bill by Sen. Friend (R-Garrett) which failed to pass the 1955 Legislature, which would make gas lines common carriers. As soon as a driller laid a gas line, it would become common property, and any other firm with a productive gas well would be entitled to transmit its gas through the same line.

Lloyd Haymes, representing the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co., said he was opposed to the common carrier provision.

John Avirett, attorney representing the C&A, also objected to the provision and said his firm was in favor of pooling acreage, or spacing wells.

Both Oscar Berry, of the Natural Gas Distributing Co. of Washington, and C. P. Duncan, geologist for C&A, asked that underground areas used for storing natural gas be exempted from restrictions which may be set forth in the bill.

Objects To Statement

W. A. Gunter, Cumberland attorney and member of the State Board of Education, objected to a published statement by Sen. Friend in which he charged drillers with putting landowners under a false impression about signing leases.

Friend rose to reply but Sen. DiDomenico asked that the two men keep the discussion impersonal.

Sen. Friend said his bill would set up a State board to control and regulate drilling and to administer the law. He called for a law acceptable to land owners and drillers and said it was not opposed to pooling, or spacing wells, but thought it should be voluntary.

Gunter called for mutual trust, between drillers and land owners.

Dr. Joseph T. Singewald Jr., director of the State Department of Geology, Mines and Water Resources, said he favored spacing wells and the right to appeal but said the acreage on which drilling would be allowed should be left to his department.

Friend's bill would set up a separate department.

Five Garrett County farmers, Foster Voss, Clark and Howard Schlossnagle, Paul Goehring and Albert Richter, praised the "fairness" of Snee and Eberly, Uniontown drilling firm, which said it has spent $800,000 on wells in this area.

Robert Eberly said his firm had realized about half of its investment, or $400,000, from wells that are producing. He said operators should have representation on any board set up to regulate the industry.

He also recommended pooling and suggested 640 acres as a starting point. He estimated it costs $85,000 to $90,000 to drill an average well and that the extreme cost should be considered along with the ratio of producing wells to dry holes.

"IKE" AND "SANDY"

'Ike' Herboldsheimer Gets New Leader Dog As Guide

German Shepherd Replaces 'Rocky'

Sandy, a 27-month-old German Shepherd, has begun learning his way about the streets of Cumberland, as the new Leader Dog for his blind master, Walter "Ike" Herboldsheimer, 174 Baltimore Street, the newsstand operator in the Post Office building.

Sandy and "Ike" met at Leader Dogs for the Blind in Rochester, Mich., near Detroit, about August 17, three days after Herboldsheimer arrived there to get a new Leader Dog.

"Ike" had a Leader Dog by the name of "Rocky" for several years, but Rocky was struck by a hit-and-run motorist on North Centre Street over a year ago, while protecting his owner from injury, and since then had been too nervous to do his work properly. "Ike" returned Rocky to the Leader Dog School and said yesterday the school found a good home for him with a family who wanted a well-trained pet.

Herboldsheimer remained at Rochester for almost four weeks to complete a round of training. He noted one important change in the instructions since he was last at Rochester. When Rocky was assigned to him, "Ike" was cautioned to discourage people from making up with Rocky as it was believed this interfered with the dog's ability to guide his blind master.

Under the new change, and with Sandy, people are encouraged to be friendly with the animal anytime he is not working. "Ike" explained, "If we're going along the street and are not in any trouble, it's better if people just ignore us. But if we're stopped, or if we're loafing or visiting, then it's okay to talk to Sandy, pet him and get acquainted."

While at Rochester intensive training sessions were held daily. Practice was conducted both in Rochester, a small city, and in the heavy traffic and hurrying crowds of Pontiac. There were more than four hours of street training daily.

The trainer accompanied Walter and Sandy on the first couple of walks, then left them to find their own way on memorized routes in Rochester and Pontiac. He was available if the student became confused or lost. "Ike" never got lost. He and Sandy even took a trip through a huge five and dime store in Pontiac.

Walter's "Sandy" had been contributed to the school by a friend of the organization. Sandy had spent 10 days in quarantine before going into the training program. After obedience and basic school came six weeks of training to recognize such hazardous conditions as moving traffic, pedestrians, curbs, low-hanging branches, awnings, puddles and everything that might be dangerous to his new master.

Paupé Is Cited As Outstanding Post Adjutant

Gets Legion Award At State Conclave

Russell C. Paupe, adjutant of Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion for more than a quarter of a century, and also adjutant of Mountain District, was given a singular honor at the State Department convention held in Ocean City last week.

Paupe, for the second time in his long career as a Legionnaire and worker in Legion activities, was formally presented with a citation declaring him an outstanding post and district adjutant.

The citation, engraved and framed, is signed by Benjamin B. Buckner, commander, and Daniel H. Burkhardt, adjutant.

It states in part that numerous posts in the Mountain District have notified the state commander and state adjutant that Paupe has served his own post in loyal and efficient manner.

The citation and certificate of appreciation was issued under the hand and seal of the department commander and the State Department, attested by the department adjutant.

In 1948, Paupe was presented a similar award by Department Adjutant J. Nelson Tribby. Paupe is a World War I veteran.

Decision Set Today In Tampering Case

Two of three men charged with tampering with a motor vehicle here Tuesday pleaded guilty to the charge yesterday before Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick, who said a decision has been deferred until today in the case of the third.

Pleading guilty were William Simpson, 211 Bedford Street, and Richard Sourbrine, 24 North Waverly Terrace. James Skelley, Crestapawn, pleaded not guilty.

The men were arrested on North Mechanic Street by Officer Royce J. Clayton, who said they attempted to move a vehicle owned by the Queen City Neon Company, but failed to release the emergency brake and killed the motor.

Magistrate Dick said all of the young men have previous records of motor vehicle violations.
